

Review of Market Integration announces a call for papers and invites manuscripts for the forthcoming issues. The journal addresses issues related to market integration as part of the developmental process of emerging economies. It seeks to explore issues that create barriers to markets in the fields of agriculture, education, health, environment, infrastructure, labour, finance, business and institutional structures. In developing economies these barriers are not only with respect to international markets but also with respect to regional markets within a country.

Five key reasons to publish in Review of Market Integration:

- The journal covers a wide range of issues including development economics, rural development, market access for small producers, labour market integration, supply chain management, governance, rights as options to development, laws that affect market integration and their development, and the role of institutions in enabling markets for the poor, among others.
- The journal publishes original empirical as well as research papers, policy papers and book reviews.
- Publication in print and online via the award winning SAGE Journals platform will ensure maximum visibility and discoverability of your work.
- Your article will be peer reviewed.
- Unprecedented international reach: SAGE is the world's leading independent academic publisher. SAGE proudly retains a culture that puts quality and individual relationships first. Your article will have global reach through SAGE's principal offices in Los Angeles, London, New Delhi and Singapore.
